To Whom it may concern,

The RPT has been an integral part of the International Coaches Institute since its formation 25 years ago. The success of the coaching methods and methodology have been an integral part of the success of Spanish tennis. It is based on this success that has enabled the RPT to train more than 75,000 people and certify 20,500 coaches in 121 countries around the world.

The introduction of the two new courses developed by the International Coaches Institute namely the Competitive Coaching Course and the Performance Coaching Course will provide an outstanding opportunity for coaches to gain the latest coaching techniques to enhance their knowledge and experience.

Having reviewed the content of the courses the RPT endorse the programme and the certification programme and will offer this training and certification to our members throughout Europe.

Yours faithfully

Adrian Rattenbury
